The Director of Risk Management and Insurance is responsible for reporting accidents involving Rowan University owned vehicles to the Bureau of Security Responsibility of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

- 1. Airline Travel
 - a. Airfares should always be the lowest discounted or economy fare available. Reservations should be made sufficiently in advance to obtain the lowest or most reasonable fare.

- b. Airfare may be booked online using the Concur website or by calling the contracted travel management company (TMC).
- c. Airfare: Business Class and First Class travel is reimbursable only with advance written approval from one of the following: President, Provost, Sr. Vice President, Divisional Vice President or Dean and when the scheduled flight time, including stopovers and change of planes, is in excess of 14 hours. For SOM campus, the Department Head may authorize/approve exceptions to the airfare class.
- d. Upgrades, as described above, are only allowed for non-group travel.
- e. Flights funded through grants may be subject to the Fly America Act or other restrictions. The Fly America Act is a federal regulation that requires the use of U.S. carriers for travel that will be reimbursed from federal grants and contracts. Travelers who will be reimbursed from federal grants and contracts can also use foreign air carriers with code-sharing agreements with U.S. flag carriers. If traveling with or using funds from a federal grant, refer to the Fly America Act or contact the Office of Sponsored Programs.
- f. Reimbursement may exceed the lowest fare only if seats are unavailable at the lowest fare or if travel at a higher fare will result in a material cost savings to the University or material timesaving to the traveler, as approved in advance. A documented medical condition will be considered for an exception to these rules.
- g. Expenses for necessary additional days may be requested if the total costs of the reduced fare plus the additional days' expenses are less than the lowest available fare would have been without the additional days of travel. An explanation for the cost savings to the University must be clearly noted on the Expense Report.

2. Train Travel

- a. Train travel may be booked online using the Concur website or by calling the contracted travel management company (TMC).
- b. Travel on Amtrak trains is only permitted when it is the most economical.

3. Taxicabs and Shuttle Service

- a. Charges for taxi, Uber, Lyft and airline shuttle service, including tips at a reasonable market rate of the charge, are reimbursable when other modes of travel are not available or practical.

- c. Expenses incurred must coincide with the business purpose, performance of official duties and relate to conducting authorized University matters.

4. Privately Owned Vehicles

- a. Employees may use their private vehicles for official University business. Mileage reimbursement will be made at the prevailing IRS business rate. If a personal automobile is used for business purposes, individuals will be reimbursed for miles incurred in excess of daily commute. Note: When using Concur, the Mileage Calculator will round the miles driven to the nearest whole number. The personal mileage reimbursement covers all costs related to the operation of the vehicle, including service, maintenance, insurance, depreciation, and gas. Travel between campuses and offsite locations must be authorized in advance by the traveler's supervisor. The supervisor should evaluate what mode of transportation and reimbursement is appropriate given the nature of the assignment. Transportation and reimbursement options are subject to budget availability of the department, and the optimal time and budgetary trade-off for transportation services.
- b. Students/Non-Employees are required to submit driving directions using Google Maps which provides a Google Mileage summary. This one page summary condenses all the necessary information to comply with this policy.
 - i. The Google Mileage Summary should be the supporting documentation for each Day Travel Expense Form, Domestic / International Travel Request Form, and Travel Expense Form. In addition, the Google Mileage Summary is the ONLY supporting documentation accepted by Accounts Payable.
- c. Reimbursement for travel outside of the State shall be permitted when such arrangements prove to be more efficient and economical than other forms of public transportation.

- d. Travel assignments, where such assignments are on a regularly recurring basis, and it is inappropriate to designate the faculty or staff member's home as the official work station, reimbursement shall be on the basis of total travel cost from home to the temporary work station or from the official work station to the temporary work station, whichever is less.
- e. In certain cases, where faculty or staff members normally work on field assignments, but do have regular or periodic requirements to report to an official work station, it may be appropriate to designate the faculty or staff member's home as an alternate official work station for all travel except to the primary official station. In such instances, the faculty or staff member will be reimbursed on the basis of total travel cost from home, except that travel from home to the primary official work station shall not be reimbursable.
- f. Travel on weekends or holidays to a temporary official work station is reimbursable from the faculty or staff member's home. For the most common scenarios, see attachment number 13.
- g. Day Travel Expense Reports should be submitted at the end of each month. Submission deadline for Day Travel is 45 days after the end of each month. Failure to observe this deadline could lead to denial of reimbursement.
- h. A standard set of pre-calculated miles has been created for the driving distance between the three University campuses. This eliminates the need to provide a Google Mileage Summary as these locations have been predetermined. For a list of the pre-calculated miles between campuses, please see Attachment 13.

5. Automobile Rental

- a. Automobile rentals may be permitted under extenuating circumstances where commercial transportation facilities are not available or their use is impractical. A justification outlining the expected cost savings to the University must be provided. Especially if the rental vehicle is less expensive than other modes of transportation or when there is no other means of transportation available.
- b. The President, Provost, Senior Vice President, Divisional Vice President, or Dean must approve the car rental prior to the trip. For SOM campus, the Department Head may authorize/approve use of an automobile rental.

 - iv. Travelers should purchase a collision damage waiver (CDW) from the rental agency for all University travel (Domestic / International). For more information on collision damage waiver, please see Automobile Coverage on Risk Management website.
 - v. For more information on vehicle rental services, contact the Office of Contracting & Procurement.

Lodging

The University will pay only actual room rental costs supported by the hotel bill for each day that lodging away from home is required for business reasons. When traveling, employees are expected to use good quality, but reasonably priced hotels or motels wherever practical. The following guidelines should be used in determining when the cost of lodging is reimbursable.

1. Travelers attending official meetings and conventions/conferences are authorized to stay and to be reimbursed for the official convention/conference lodging rate at the officially designated headquarters hotel of the convention/conference or meeting. However, more moderately priced accommodations must be requested wherever a reasonable alternative is available. Whenever possible, travelers shall take advantage of special lodging rates afforded to state agencies and University faculty and staff by hotels.

2. Hotel Accommodations may be booked online using the Concur website or by calling the contracted travel management company (TMC).
3. Lodging accommodations should be restricted to standard/first class hotels/motels. Reimbursement for lodging may be only in the amount documented by a receipt of actual lodging expenses from a commercial lodging establishment or an online marketplace company such as Airbnb.

Attachment 13 Mileage Scenarios

The following are a few examples of common scenarios used when calculating mileage reimbursement:

Scenario 1: Home to Offsite to Home

Employee generally drives 20 miles to and from their usual work site. The normal round trip commute of 40 miles. Today, however, the employee needs to drive from their home to attend an all-day offsite training session. After the training session, they return to their home. As a result, today the employee drives 65 miles - from home, to the training, and then back home.

Answer: The employee can request mileage reimbursement for 25 miles today. This represents the number of miles driven in excess of the usual round trip commute ($65 - 40 = 25$).

Scenario 2: Home to Offsite to Normal Worksite to Home

Employee generally drives 10 miles to and from their usual work site. The normal round trip commute of 20 miles. Today, however, the employee needs to drive from their home to attend an offsite early morning meeting. After the meeting, the employee continues to their normal worksite where they complete the workday, and then drive home. As a result, today the employee drives 50 miles - from home, to the meeting, to normal worksite, and then back home.

Answer: The employee can request mileage reimbursement for 30 miles today. This represents the number of miles driven in excess of the usual round trip commute ($50 - 20 = 30$).

Scenario 3: Normal Worksite to Offsite return to Normal Worksite

Employee leaves their normal worksite to conduct University business at various locations. The employee then returns to their normal worksite. Employee needs to keep track of the total miles driven while conducting University business.

Answer: The employee will be reimbursed for the total miles driven.

Scenario 4: Normal Worksite to Offsite to Home

Employee generally drives 15 miles to and from their usual worksite. The normal round trip commute of 30 miles. Today, however, the employee needs to drive from their normal worksite to an offsite meeting. After the meeting, they drive home. As a result, today the employee drives 40 miles - from normal worksite, to the meeting, and then back home.

Answer: The employee can request reimbursement for 25 miles today. This represents the number of miles driven in excess of their usual round trip commute ($40 - 15 = 25$). In this case, only subtract one-half the employee's normal daily roundtrip commute from the total.

Scenario 5: Miles between University Campuses

Please note - To avoid delays in reimbursement, Students/Non-Employees must include directions from Google Maps. The Google Mileage Summary provided by Google Maps is the ONLY supporting document accepted by Accounts Payable. To remain in compliance, always submit the Google Mileage Summary with the following forms: Day Travel Expense, Domestic / International Travel Request and Travel Expense.

Google Mileage Summary Example:
